Dear Long Island Fight for Charity Supporters and Fans,

As the founders of the Long Island Fight for Charity, we (Jamie Austin, Matt Silver and Jeff Cohen) know how to take a punch. Like everyone else, the recent pandemic hit us hard, but we never stopped. We are even more appreciative today than ever before for each and every supporter. The last 19 years have passed in what seems like the blink of an eye, and it is clear that the positive impact the event has made in the lives of so many will last forever.

Thousands of people, have supported LIFFC's mission of helping those in need on Long Island. It all began in 2002, shortly after the Long Island Community Chest was formed. Jeff Cohen, a board member, offered the extraordinary idea to create a charity boxing event where he would box and raise money through ticket sales. Jamie and Matt agreed to the idea, jokingly saying they would fight each other. Jeff, taking advantage of the moment, contacted the media and the Long Island Fight for Charity was born in 2003.

Long Island Fight for Charity is a unique fundraising program and event, nothing like it exists anywhere in the world, and over the years it has become the Island's most anticipated annual charity networking event. Each year a new and brave group of Long Islanders choose to volunteer to raise money, train and step into the boxing ring at the Main Event.

We are grateful and proud of all Charity Boxers for their personal sacrifice of time, being away from their families, bearing the physical and mental stress of training and for their steadfast commitment to reach their fundraising goals. Please honor each boxer tonight by reading their bios in this publication and congratulate them this evening during the event and again at the After Party.

Additionally, as we celebrate the 17th Main Event in 2022, we recognize the close to 400 Charity Boxers who have entered the ring in the past. Through their hard work, dedication and desire to "give back," they have set a standard and created a tradition. Over the years we have given away $1.7 million. These funds have, and will continue to go directly to assist those in need here on Long Island.

Thank you to our committee chairs, volunteers, fans, USA Boxing, trainers, celebrity judges, ring card people, generous sponsors, restaurant partners and more than 30,000 cheering attendees. Every person who has attended or supported our events in any way has made a difference in the lives thousands of men, women and children in our community through more than 50 charities. We are truly grateful.

We hope you enjoy the 17th Long Island Fight for Charity.

Founded in 1977, FREE benefits and proudly supports more than 4,000 individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities, mental illness and traumatic brain injury.

It is through the generosity of people like you, our donors, the boxers, sponsors, and the Long Island Community Chest that helps FREE achieve and maintain the standard of excellence required to provide the diverse array of supports and services including: housing, recovery services, transition to work, employment, day, community and family services, respite, crisis services, education and after-school support, primary and specialty health care and advocacy. Thank you for your continued support!

THANK YOU to all the attendees, without whom we could not succeed.

Our Story

The Long Island Community Chest is interested in helping people who have nowhere else to turn. Individuals who have exhausted all traditional means of help.

Our founders, Matt Silver and Jamie Austin, have been involved in many charities and not-for-profit organizations on Long Island, and wanted to create an organization that gave back to their local community. They wanted to see the rewards of their fundraising efforts in person. By helping specific individuals directly, they can get to know those they help.

Our Approach

Long Island Community Chest is an on-going fund to provide immediate short-term financial support to individuals and families on Long Island.

Recipients shall be individuals or families recently experiencing traumatic life altering setbacks to their day to day lives. Individuals who have exhausted all traditional means of help such as a parent unable to work because of a car accident, or someone unable to pay for unexpected medical problems. The LICC is interested in helping specific, identifiable people who have nowhere else to turn.

The mission of Eden II Programs is to support people with autism throughout their lives to achieve their full potential through service, science, and passion. Established in 1976, Eden II Programs began with just six students and one special education teacher. Recognizing a growing need for autism services on Long Island, Eden II Programs opened the Genesis School along with the Genesis Outreach Autism Center in 1995 in the East Meadow neighborhood. Today the organization serves over 500 participants in New York City and Long Island with programs including school services, adult day habilitation programs, residential services, family support and respite, and crisis intervention.

Through the generosity of our families, friends, community supporters, and the Long Island Fight for Charity we have continued to expand our classrooms and program spaces, enhance the services provided, and continue to offer specialized programs for children and adults with autism across Long Island. Thank you to the boxers, sponsors, and volunteers that dedicate their time to host the Long Island Fight for Charity – we appreciate your continued support!

INTRODUCING THE 2022 CHARITY BOXERS

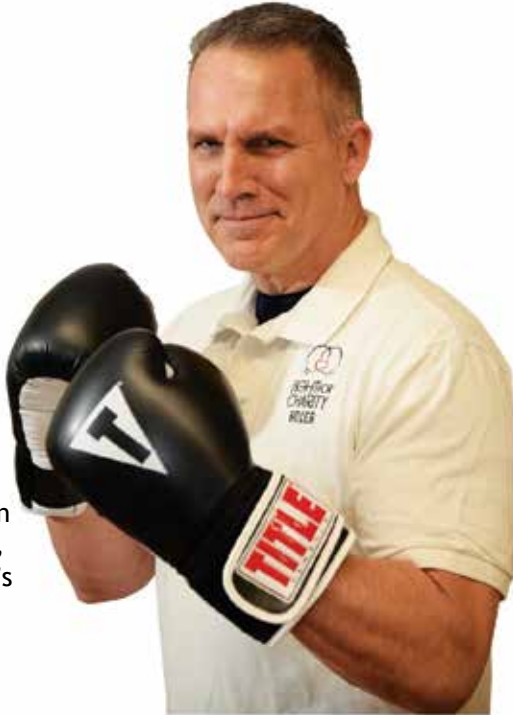

Johnny “Old School” Ankelman

Johnny “Old School” Ankelman (Hoteling Insurance Services) is a property casualty insurance broker with 25+ years’ experience.

He is a long-time member with IABNY (Independent Insurance Agents of New York). Before entering the business world John studied business and received his BBA from Hofstra University.

Outside of Fight for Charity, John also supports charitable organizations including the John Thiessen Children’s Foundation, Kids for Kids (St. Jude Children’s Hospital) and Equity First Foundation.

After growing up in Levittown, he raised his four children in Mt. Sinai. He currently resides in Woodbury.

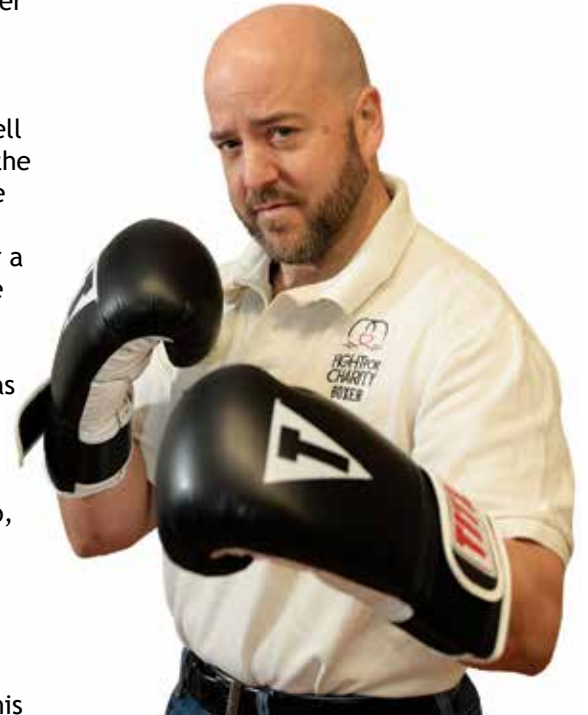

Travis “The Eagle” Buonocore

Travis Buonocore, 2021-2022 Volunteer Long Island Fight for Charity Boxer, is participating in his first boxing match this year, a far cry from working as a Delivery Principal for Dell Technologies. While Travis manages the delivery of complex IT and workforce transformations for various Fortune 500 companies, pushing his limits for a great cause drives him outside of the office.

This isn’t the first time Buonocore has tested his endurance for charitable means. When not working, the Bay Shore resident donates his time to various efforts such as the Lions Club, the American Legion and the Maggie Fischer Cross Bay Swim. Buonocore will prove that anything is possible when you continually push yourself to be better, and give back to the community at every opportunity. In his free time, Buonocore enjoys engaging in physical activities as he has competed in triathlons, climbed volcanoes and swam across the Great South Bay (a 5.6-mile journey) five times.

Come September 15th, Buonocore looks forward to not only honing his skills in the boxing ring but driving donations for all the great causes sponsored by this year’s event!

INTRODUCING THE 2022 CHARITY BOXERS

Dawn “The Storm” Strain

Dawn Jessica Strain, President of DJS Events, has created some of the most extraordinary affairs for prestigious clientele in the corporate, non-profit and social sectors. Dawn is a charismatic leader in the business and networking communities, which led her to become the second-youngest woman to be named to the Long Island Business News “Top 50 BusinessWoman of the Year” in 2009 and to receive this award for the second time in 2012. Dawn was featured on the cover of Networking Magazine and her work has generated regional and national media coverage in outlets such as The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, Crain’s Business New York and The Huffington Post.

Dawn’s passion for philanthropy and community motivated her to become Founder of the Long Island Elite (LIE), a 501(c)3 organization, established in 2002. This unique networking group connects successful executives while demonstrating the value and fulfillment of raising money for Long Island’s charities. They have donated over a million dollars to charitable causes in the Long Island community. Dawn served the organization as president from 2002 through 2012. In early 2021, Dawn was invited to serve on the advisory board of Smile Farms, an organization with a mission to provide developmentally disabled adults with meaningful work opportunities.

In 2012, Dawn created the innovative “WoofWoofWedding,” a unique fundraiser benefiting North Shore Animal League and Waggy Tails Rescue raising $10,000 in six weeks. The event was featured on Fox 5’s “Good Day New York” and TLC’s “Say Yes to The Dress.”

Dawn is a proud daughter, sister and a loyal friend to many. She recognizes that she could not accomplish any of this without support and effort from her amazing team. Dawn’s unyielding commitment to excellence and dedication to her clients’ needs results in event productions of the highest order. Most important, Dawn’s immediate family includes the infamous Piper, her 11-year-old Chihuahua, who usually accompanies her and was the bride and star of the Woof Woof Wedding and its media coverage, as well as her six-year-old rescue Chorkie Thalia.

Her motto is “Live with Grace.”

“How you climb up the mountain is just as important as how you get down and so it is with life, which for many of us becomes one big gigantic test followed by an even greater lesson.”

INTRODUCING THE 2022 CHARITY BOXERS

Sahed “Razi” Shokouhi-Razi

Sahed “Razi” Shokouhi-Razi is the Co-Owner of Audio Visual Enterprises, Inc., a low voltage wiring business in Roslyn that services fiber optic cabling, internet, telephone, security cameras, intercom, home automation and home theaters.

Sahed received his Bachelor’s Degree from Adelphi University and was a member of Pi Lambda Phi. With a passion for fighting, Sahed is eager to raise money for charity and give back to members of the Long Island community. He currently resides in Roslyn.

Daniel “Dr. Danger” Saper

Daniel “Dr. Danger” Saper is a clinical psychologist, focused on individual and couples’ psychotherapy and psychoanalysis. He has offices in Huntington and Hauppauge, Long Island. In addition to providing fee-for-service psychotherapy and consultations, Saper does pro bono work helping patients who aren’t able to afford the cost of mental health services. He also assists military veterans to qualify for compensation for combat-related psychological trauma.

In addition, Saper works with artists, performers and athletes, helping them with issues impacting their performance and quality of life. He has contributed articles on psychology, boxing, music and audio for Quora; lectured at Columbia University; and won “Contributor of the Year, 2011” for his writing on The Sweet Science website.

Saper is also an author and media figure publishing his first book, “Freud’s Lost Chord: Discovering Jazz in the Resonant Psyche”; been an expert guest on several TV and radio shows; contributed to numerous internet articles on stress, relationships and mental health; and manages a YouTube channel and podcast, “Real it In.”

He received his BA in philosophy from Vassar College and was captain of the boxing club. Here, he had the privilege of training with Tony Marchese, whose friendship with Floyd Patterson gave him the opportunity to spar and fight three-rounders against boxers from Floyd’s gym. He furthered his education and received his M.A and Ph.D. in Psychology from The Derner Institute of Advanced Psychological Studies at Adelphi University.

He is married for 22 years to his high-school sweetheart, Dina, who is an interior designer at the Huntington Ethan Allen. Together, they have a 13-year-old daughter, Alyssa Jayne. Saper and his family currently reside in Huntington Station. In his free time, Saper is a singer-songwriter and amateur jazz musician, playing guitar, piano, sax, drums and vocals.

“I train regularly at the Academy of Boxing in Huntington, and I enjoyed hearing about the past LIFFC events. I couldn’t participate before due to injuries, but I’m ready for my comeback! I volunteered to be a charity boxer because boxing and helping people are two very important parts of my life. Also, as a 57-year-old doctor, I’d like to contribute to the health and happiness of others in a different way: by dusting off boxing gear and seeing what I have left in the tank as an athlete. It will be great to join my fellow boxers to put on a great show which will generate funds for a very worthy cause. Training and fighting in this year’s Main Event means a great deal to me. I always try to give back to people in need, as I have been the beneficiary of other peoples’ sacrifice and I believe strongly in paying it forward. If I can raise money at the same time to benefit those in need, then it will all have been worth it. Most of all, as a father, I’m happy to show my child how much this means, how gratifying it can be to make a great effort to reach personal goals, to work hard on behalf of other people - and to give her a chance to help with my training and promotion!” said Daniel Saper.

INTRODUCING THE 2022 CHARITY BOXERS

Bart “Hands of Steel” Schiavo

Bart Schiavo is the Owner & President of Schiavo Steel, a structural Steel Fabrication company.

Bart supports multiple charities such as Save The Children and St Jude Children’s Hospital.

“I fell in love with boxing about 18 years ago. I’ve always been passionate about the sport and part of me always wanted to box. However, I would never consider stepping in the ring with someone who is training full time in hopes of turning pro, without being able to dedicate myself 100%. Being a business owner has not allowed me the time to do that and now, being in my late 30’s, that window has closed anyway. I thought this would be a great opportunity to be a part of something with others who are probably in that same boat or just getting into boxing now, and finally have an amateur fight, while also doing something that will ultimately help those in need.”

“Most of my gym time is self-trained due to my schedule (although I have trained under both Frankie & Kathy in the past), so I’m very much looking forward to training with an actual trainer again. I know that although I’ve been boxing recreationally for a long time, I’ve got a lot to work on and I still have plenty to learn. I know this will definitely be a step up from sparring and I’m excited for the challenge. I’m really excited at the idea of competing with someone who is also doing this for a good cause and can’t wait to play my part in a great night of entertaining bouts!”

Bart lives in Huntington with his wife and their newborn son Nicholas.

Kevin “Death Wish” Stephens

Kevin “Death Wish” Stephens is a composite laminator for GSE Dynamics, Inc. Based in Hauppauge, GSE Dynamics, Inc. is a full-service engineering and manufacturing company engaged in the manufacture, assembly and testing of military mechanical and structural components and assemblies. GSE is a Woman Owned Small Business and a leader in the Composites Industry.

The Riverhead native is fighting in the 17th Long Island Fight for Charity Main Event to raise awareness for the Autism community. He is also involved in St. Baldrick’s and has been a participant in several events for the childhood cancer organization in the past. In his free time, Stephens is a member of Team Fusion/ Fusion MMA in Port Jefferson.
